Besides school and professional training there are many things these children never had experienced, which are crucial for the success of our educational projects: hygiene, nutrition, medical and psychological care, protection, support to their families... Spend the full afternoon to visit Taul Sleng Museum, and Cheung Ek Killing Field. Taul Sleng was the formerly the Chao Ponhea Yat High School, named after a Royal ancestor of King Norodom Sihanouk, the five buildings of the complex were converted in August 1975, four months after the Khmer Rouge won the civil war, into a prison and interrogation center. The Khmer Rouge renamed the complex "Security Prison 21" (S-21) and construction began to adapt the prison to the inmates: the buildings were enclosed in electrified barbed wire, the classrooms converted into tiny prison and torture chambers, and all windows were covered with iron bars and barbed wire to prevent escapes. In 1979, the prison was uncovered by the invading Vietnamese army. In 1980, the prison was reopened by the government of the People's Republic of Kampuchea as a historical museum memorializing the actions of the Khmer Rouge regime. Then if the time available we visit Russian Market /or Phsar Soriya for shopping then walking along to the river to see the Royal palace from outside of the Royal compound. Overnight in Phnom Penh
